Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi President Elected Chairman of Texas International Education Consortium Board

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi President Flavius Killebrew has been elected chairman of the board of the Texas International Education Consortium (TIEC).

Dr. Killebrew, who has been serving on the board's executive committee, will begin his one-year term Sept. 1. As chairman, he will preside over the annual TIEC meeting and the quarterly executive committee meetings.

“Dr. Killebrew has been involved with our programs for many years and knows the organization very well,” said Dr. Ronald Aqua, TIEC president and CEO. “We’re delighted to have him as our chairman.”

Founded in 1985, the TIEC is an international, private, non-profit corporation that works with 32 public universities in Texas on a variety of international projects, including founding new universities, developing university programs, creating cooperation programs between international universities, and facilitating K-12 education. TIEC also operates the Texas Intensive English Program which provides English as a second language instruction to international students.
