Texas A&M -Corpus Christi Holds First Calculus Bowl

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Around 50 area high school students will participate in the first-ever Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi Calculus Bowl Friday, Dec. 5, from 5-7:30 p.m. in the Center for Instruction, Room 113.

The event, sponsored by the University's Department of Mathematics and Statistics, is geared toward high school students enrolled in calculus. Students will participate in teams of up to five members. Preliminary rounds will consist of 20 multiple-choice questions and the final round will consist of 30 multiple-choice questions. Topics will include pre-calculus, limits, derivatives and applications of derivatives.
