Students Compete On Stage for Cash Prizes during Texas A&M-Corpus Christi's Islander Revue Song and Dance Show

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Student groups and organizations at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi will compete for $2,000 in cash prizes during the annual "Islander Revue" music and dance extravaganza Friday, Oct. 31, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center. The event is open to the public.

This year's "Islander Revue," sponsored by Texas A&M-Corpus Christi's Student Foundation, will showcase a variety of song and dance performances inspired by the '60s novelty hit "The Monster Mash," Tim Burton's fantasy film "The Nightmare before Christmas," and today's hip-hop culture. There will also be a special performance by the Islanderettes Dance Team. Contestants will be judged on musical quality, creativity, choreography and entertainment value.

General admission is $10. Students with a valid SandDollar$ I.D. pay just $5. T-shirts and pre-orders of DVDs of the show are available for $10 each. Proceeds will fund student scholarships. For more information, call 361.825.5558.
