Pre-Service Teachers from Texas A&M-Corpus Christi to Hold a Family Science and Math Night for Students and Families

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas - Pre-service science and mathematics teachers from Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi will hold a Family Science and Math Night for students and their families Thursday, Feb. 12, from 6-7 p.m. at the Flour Bluff Intermediate School Cafeteria, 2505 Waldron Road.

The evening will include visual displays and science activities highlighting family nutrition and science. The math pre-service teachers will also present hands-on projects featuring fun math activities. The event is designed to excite, entertain and encourage young students and their families to find an interest in both science and math in a non-traditional, hands-on manner.
