Lunch Fair Gives STEM Conference Students Information On Opportunities at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Around 100 students participating in the Community College STEM Conference will have an opportunity to become acquainted with services and opportunities at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi during a box lunch Information Fair on Friday, Oct. 23, from noon to 1 p.m. in the University Center, Legacy Hall.

Throughout the day, students will attend meetings on careers in the fields of science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM). At noon, they will gather for an informal box lunch in the University Center, Legacy Room where they can browse information tables on University Services, Student Support Services, Career Services, Study Abroad Programs, Veterans Affairs and campus groups and organizations.

The annual conference aimed at increasing the quality and quantity of students successfully completing science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) baccalaureate degree programs is hosted by the Department of Computing Sciences at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi and sponsored by the Louis Stokes Alliances for Minority Participation.
