Texas A&M-Corpus Christi Presents Contemporary Pop Opera ‘Bare: The Musical’ on the Warren Theatre Stage

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – The University Theatre at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi will present the contemporary pop opera “Bare: The Musical” from Tuesday, Oct. 13, through Sunday, Oct. 18, in the Warren Theatre in the Center for the Arts.

Performances are at 8 p.m. with a 2 p.m. Sunday matinee.

In the spirit of shows like “Rent” and “Spring Awakening,” the coming-of-age story by Damon Inrabartolo and Jon Hartmere tells of students at a Catholic boarding school struggling to find their own voices in a modern world that both embraces and isolates them. “Bare: The Musical,” which speaks to audiences through an urgent, pop/rock influenced score, centers on two gay teenagers, who are coming out and coming to terms with the often contradictory but always high expectations of parents, peers and the church.

Dr. Terry Lewis, professor of theatre, will direct the play. The musical debuted at the Hudson Theatre in Los Angeles, Calif., in October 2000 and ran through Feb. 25, 2001.

“Bare: The Musical” contains adult language and mature themes. Tickets are $10 for general admission; $9 for senior citizens and military; $7 for faculty/staff/students; and $3 for University students with SandDollar$ ID. For more information or to order tickets, call 361.825.5800.
