CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Dr. Robb Jackson, a professor of English in the College of Liberal Arts at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, received the designation of Regents Professor at The Texas A&M Board of Regents meeting on Dec. 2, in College Station, Texas.

Jackson, one of 11 professors within The Texas A&M University System to receive the designation of Regents Professor for 2009-2010, was nominated by Texas A&M-Corpus Christi President/CEO Flavius Killebrew.

Jackson is the author the recently published “Child Support,” a collection of poems about his 20 years as a noncustodial father of four children during and after his separation and divorce from their mother. His other books of poetry include “From Halsdon Mill Cottage” (2005) and “Living on the Hurricane Coast” (2003).

The Regents Professor Award Program recognizes Texas A&M University System employees who have made exemplary contributions to their university or agency and to the people of Texas. Since the award was created in 1996, 131 faculty members have been named Regents Professor.
