Entrepreneur and Creator of the Integrated Tourniquet System to Give Presentation at the Young Business Professionals’ Mixer

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Keith Rose M.D., entrepreneur and president and CEO of The Doctors’ Center, will give a presentation at the Young Business Professionals’ mixer on Thursday, July 22, from 6-8 p.m. at Katz 21, 317 N. Mesquite St.

In his presentation “Focus Forward, Eyes Straight Marching the Trail, Jumping Barricades,” Dr. Rose will explain the basics of becoming an entrepreneur and overcoming barriers in the business world. In 1999, Rose brought Katz 21 and the first lofts, above the restaurant, to downtown Corpus Christi. After spending 10 years as an Army Reserve field surgeon, Rose developed the Integrated Tourniquet System. He will bring a special suit with him that he supplies to the Army to reduce blood loss in case of emergencies.

Rose, who earned his medical degree from the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, has extensive field experience in trauma, burns, diving medicine, emergency medicine, and critical air transport. He is also trained in general and plastic surgery. Rose has spoken to numerous companies, agencies, and organizations on risk management, tactical... medicine, and security issues. He has traveled to developing countries with the charity organization Cure International, training physicians to repair cleft lips/palates.

In addition, he provides consulting in tactical medicine to numerous government and law enforcement agencies, and security companies, and has worked in South America, Middle East, and South East Asia.
