Texas A&M-Corpus Christi McNair Scholar Megan Grime Gives Presentation at Southwestern Psychological Association Conference

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi McNair Scholar Megan Grime presented at the Southwestern Psychological Association (SWPA) 2011 Conference held April 6-9 in San Antonio, Texas.

Grime, a senior psychology and philosophy major, gave her presentation on “The Effects of Meditation on Countering the Influence of Stress on Recognition Memory.”

SWPA serves the psychological community by providing access to scientific advances and professional development within a collegial atmosphere. At its annual meeting, SWPA offers paper, poster, continuing education sessions, workshops, symposia and invited talks.

The federally-funded McNair Scholars program provides first-generation, low-income, minority college students with paid internships and mentoring to prepare for enrollment in graduate programs and to obtain a Ph.D.
