MEDIA ALERT
DATE: January 27, 2011
CONTACT: Dr. Diana Sipes, 361.825.3943 or 361.815.8860 (cell); Cassandra Hinojosa, 361.825.2337

PHOTO/MEDIA OPPORTUNITY

WHO: Flute Studios at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi and Texas A&M University-Kingsville

WHAT: Coastal Bend Flute Symposium

WHEN: Saturday, Jan. 29, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
(Best Media Opportunity – 1:30-5:30 p.m.)

WHERE: Center for the Arts, Rooms 127 and 136 at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi

Coastal Bend Flute Symposium at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi Presents Exhibits, Free Master Classes Taught by Music Experts

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – The flute studios at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi will co-host the Coastal Bend Flute Symposium on Saturday, Jan. 29, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., in the Center of the Arts rooms 127 and 136 at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi.

The symposium co-hosted with Texas A&M University-Kingsville, will feature Dr. Kimberly Clark, a former flute professor at the University of Houston Moores School of Music. Other guests include Jason Blank, Haynes Artist from Boston, Mass., and Bobbi Prewitt from the Music and Arts Center of Houston. In addition to teaching classes, Prewitt and Blank will exhibit a variety of intermediate and professional flutes and piccolos.

The event, which includes sessions appropriate for all ages and levels, begins with Clark’s “An Introduction to Body Mapping” class from 10 a.m. to noon. The symposium continues with a master class by Blank from 1:30-3 p.m. and concludes with an advanced master class by Dr. Clark from 3:30-5:30 p.m.

-A&M-Corpus Christi-