Early Childhood Development Center Students Perform ‘Alice’s Adventures’ Thursday at Warren Theatre

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – More than 80 children from the Early Childhood Development Center (ECDC) at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi will perform before their parents when they take the stage in the play “Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland” on Thursday, May 12, from 6-7:30 p.m. in Warren Theatre in the Center for the Arts.

Students in the play range from third to fifth graders with a second grade chorus. The play, which is directed by ECDC drama teacher PJ Brown, is an adaptation based on the works of Lewis Carroll.

The backstage crew is a combination of Texas A&M-Corpus Christi students and recent graduates and ECDC graduates who have worked with Brown.
