Student Groups and Organizations Compete for Cash Prizes during Texas A&M-Corpus Christi’s ‘Islander Revue’ Song and Dance Show

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – Student groups and organizations at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi will perform song and dance routines ranging from hip-hop to spoof comedy musicals during the 12th annual “Islander Revue” music and dance extravaganza on Friday, Oct. 14, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Performing Arts Center.

Student groups and organizations competing for $2,100 in cash prizes include Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Gamma Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, the Honors Student Association, and Delta Chi. Contestants will be judged on musical quality, creativity, choreography and entertainment value. There will also be special performances by iDance, a group featuring University students, alumni, and other community members; and the Islander Dance Team.

“Islander Revue” is presented by the University’s Student Foundation and sponsored by Whataburger. Proceeds will fund student scholarships.
