‘National Night Out’ Will Give Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi Students Opportunities to Get to Know Fellow Islanders

Event sponsored by UPD will be held at Camden Miramar Student Residences

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas – The University Police Department at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi will host “National Night Out: America’s Night Out Against Crime” on Tuesday, Oct. 4, from 5:30-8:30 p.m. at the Camden Miramar student residences, lot 2 in front of the clubhouse.

National Night Out is an effort to heighten crime and drug prevention awareness, and for Islanders to get to know their neighbors and meet the UPD staff. There will be bicycle registration, food, drinks, music, and performances by the Islanders dance and cheer team.

National Night Out is sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch. Neighborhood on Watch groups will join forces with thousands of other communities all over Texas to: heighten crime and drug prevention awareness, generate support for and participate in local anti-crime programs, strengthen neighborhood spirit and police community partnerships, and send a message to criminals letting them know that neighbors are organized to fight crime through community awareness.
