Note: Be sure to read the text of the template for additional information regarding developing your abstract.

Text is not indented

The abstract should reflect the entire document and summarize the research and findings in your dissertation. If your dissertation includes one or more manuscripts, each manuscript may include a short abstract that relates to the work in the manuscript. Note that the abstract text is not indented. It is generally one paragraph; however, if additional paragraphs are needed, indentation of subsequent paragraphs should be consistent with style(s) utilized by your discipline and determined in consultation with your chair. Ideally, the abstract will be relatively brief and information dense.

The text starts with two double spaces below the title ABSTRACT and is double-spaced. There must be no additional space before or after titles and headings. Use the same margin settings and fonts as used in the narrative text. Your abstract should not include formal citations, images, or complex equations. It is up to you, based on guidelines of your discipline and related style guides and in consultation with your chair, to design the contents of the abstract.

Note: For the entire submission – wherever there are differences in format and layout between the specifications of the University template/guidelines and the style guide utilized by the discipline, the University template/guidelines overrule the discipline's style guide.

Double spacing in Word: With the exception of some of your front matter, the entire document should be set to double space. To prevent automatic insertion of additional space before or after headings, go to the paragraph tab on the ribbon and ensure that spacing is set to 0 (not blank or automatic) for both “before” and “after.” Otherwise, the spacing of your document will be off in specific areas throughout your document. This is a common issue that triggers return for corrections upon submission in both Word and Latex documents.

Abstract starts on roman numeral page iv
The dedication page is optional and follows the abstract page. The title DEDICATION is capitalized and centered at the top of the page, followed by two double spaces. There must be no additional space before or after titles and headings. Use the same margins and font style and size as used in the narrative text.
Note: Be sure to read the template’s text for additional information regarding developing your acknowledgements.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS is capitalized and centered at the top of the page. The text begins with two double spaces below the title. There must be no additional space before or after titles and headings. Use the same margins and font style and size as used in the text of the dissertation.

The colons will have to be manually added after chapter titles (e.g. CHAPTER I: TITLE).
This should be one of the last items you do before you PDF your document, and no longer need to make changes.
Note: The List of Figures is built utilizing the “List of Figures” heading. When items are highlighted and the heading is selected, it is configured to the assigned style, and creates an entry in the list. You will need to update the list to populate as you write your document.

In the List of Figures, all text should be title case, with no bold or italics. You will have to remove the italics from your titles manually. Select all, and unclick the button.

REMINDER: You will need to update the list to populate as you write your document.

- Hover over the table, right-click the mouse, select Update Field
- Select Update entire table
Note: The List of Tables is built utilizing the “Table Heading” style. When items are highlighted and the heading is selected, it is configured to the assigned style, and creates an entry in the list. You will need to update the list to populate as you write your document.

CHAPTER I

TITLE

Content begins here. Students should ensure they are using the style guide preferred by their discipline (e.g., APA, MLA) within the body of the dissertation and for all tables, charts, references, etc. This template follows APA Formatting. This page must be numbered page 1 and the remaining pages must be numbered sequentially. The page number must be centered at the bottom of the page.

First Level Subheading

Heading levels and figures and table headings in this sample are for illustrative purposes only. They may not match your discipline’s preferred style. Consult with your chair and use a major style guide appropriate to your discipline. Alternatively, you may use a style that is consistent with a major journal in your discipline. Subheading usage must be consistent throughout the document.

Second Level Subheading

In the TOC, second level subsections must be indented five spaces.

Third Level Subheading

This is provided as an example of a third level subheading. It is APA style and may not fit your discipline. NOTE: The List of Figures and/or List of Tables must be included in your Table of Contents if there is more than one figure or table. THE FIGURES AND TABLES IN THIS DOCUMENT ARE EXAMPLES. FIGURES AND TABLES SHOULD BE CONSISTENT WITH YOUR DISCIPLINE.
CHAPTER II

TITLE

Content begins here. There will likely be different levels of headings throughout this and other chapters. Utilize the style guide appropriate for your discipline.

The provided content is a sample of heading levels, figures, and table headings for illustrative purposes only. They may not match your discipline's preferred style. Consult with your chair and use a major style guide appropriate to your discipline within the body of the dissertation.
REFERENCES

The references can be located at the end of appropriate sections or at the end of the main text (here). If the document includes one or more manuscripts, the references for the manuscripts should be included at the end of the main text of each manuscript, with any other referenced work placed here, including sources referenced in the concluding section. The references must be double-spaced throughout. The list should be complete, accurate, and consistent. Apart from the requirement to double space, utilize the format dictated by your discipline.
