*Strike out word or words not applicable.

†Applies to graduates of the Blue Course only.

Only young men in good physical condition and of good moral character are accepted for attendance at Citizens' Military Training Camps.

Those who complete the course have received the typhoid-paratyphoid inoculation and smallpox vaccination.

A young man who attends a Citizens' Military Training Camp renders voluntary service to the United States Government and this certificate is evidence of his patriotism and loyalty.

Graduates of the Red, White, and Blue Courses are entitled to wear the insignia for service.

Citizens' Military Training Camps are conducted by the War Department under the National Defense Act. This is the basic law which authorizes all military training. The Government pays the expenses of those attending, consisting of transportation to and from camp, uniforms, food, medical attendance and other necessary expenses.

The object of these camps is to bring together young men of high type from all sections of the country on a common basis of equality and under the most favorable conditions of outdoor life; to stimulate and promote citizenship, patriotism, and Americanism; and, through expert physical direction, athletic coaching, and military training, to benefit the young men individually, and bring them to realize their obligations to their country.

There are four (4) courses of instruction: BASIC, RED, WHITE, and BLUE. Each course lasts 30 days and only one course can be taken in any calendar year. No obligation for future service in any component of the Army of the United States attaches to attendance at any course.

Following are descriptions of the different courses:

1. The BASIC COURSE.—For physically fit male citizens of the United States, 17 to 24 years of age. Previous military training not required. Applicants must possess average general intelligence, be able to read and write English, and be of good moral character.

This course provides preliminary military training, including physical development, athletics, school of the soldier, squad and company drill, rifle marksmanship, first aid, camp sanitation, personal hygiene, military courtesies, meaning of discipline, and studies in citizenship. Those taking this course will be given an opportunity to qualify for the next higher, or Red Course.

2. The RED COURSE.—For physically fit male citizens of the United States, 17 to 25 years of age. Applicants must be graduates of the Basic Course or have had military training equivalent thereto, must possess average general intelligence, be able to read and write English, and be of good moral character.

This course provides training in different arms of the Army: Infantry, Field Artillery, Cavalry, Coast Artillery Corps, and Signal Corps. Advanced instruction in the subjects covered in the Basic Course is included.

Those who take this course will be given the opportunity to qualify in the same arm for the next higher, or White Course.

3. The WHITE COURSE.—For physically fit male citizens of the United States, 17 to 25 years of age, and enlisted men of the Army of the United States. Applicants must have a grammar-school education or its equivalent, possess qualities of leadership, and be of good moral character.

This course provides training in different arms of the Army: Infantry, Field Artillery, Cavalry, Coast Artillery Corps, and Signal Corps, for the purpose of qualifying candidates as specialists and noncommissioned leaders. This course is open to candidates who have completed the Red Course and who have been recommended to pursue the White Course, to selected citizens who have had military training equivalent to the Red Course, and to selected enlisted men of the Army of the United States.

Those who attend will be given the further opportunity to qualify in the same arm for the next higher, or Blue Course, but it will be required that they possess, or show that they later will possess, the mental and physical qualifications to become officers in the Officers' Reserve Corps. This requirement will be fully explained to all candidates before or during the White Course.

4. The BLUE COURSE.—Age limits, 19 to 29. Qualifications for admission are as follows: Applicants must be warrant officers, enlisted men, or selected civilians who are physically fit and who have completed the White Course or have had military training equivalent thereto.

Applicants must have not less than a completed high-school education or its equivalent and, for technical arms, must have the necessary technical education. They must also possess the personality, appearance, tact, bearing, and general adaptability which will fit them after further training to be officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps.

Applications from warrant officers and enlisted men must receive the approval of immediate commanding officers.

NOTE.—Graduation from the Blue Course does not of itself confer legal eligibility for appointment in the Officers' Reserve Corps. Candidates for appointment in the Infantry, Field Artillery, Cavalry, and Coast Artillery Sections of the Officers' Reserve Corps must at time of appointment be either warrant officers or enlisted men of the Regular Army, National Guard, or Enlisted Reserve Corps.

The applicant's preference for training in Infantry, Field Artillery, Cavalry, Coast Artillery Corps, and Signal Corps will be granted when such training is available and practicable from an economic and military viewpoint.
