

Agnes street a photograph by Jeff Janko.

He is a local professional photographer with a passion for photography. His interest in photography began at an early age and he later became the high school yearbook photographer for Roy Miller High School. He continued on to work as a University photographer at the University of Corpus Christi and majored in photography at Sam Houston State University. Jeff received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Corpus Christi State University and later his Master of Arts degree from Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi.

Jeffrey has been a photography teacher in both film and digital for the past twenty-one years first at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi and later for Del Mar College. He also enjoyed teaching photography for eight years to high school students attending Texas A&M's summer camp program. For fifteen years he worked as a Digital Imaging Specialist for Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi. He retired from the University in 2017 but continues to teach photography for Del Mar College. Jeffrey currently lives with his wife, Irma, and their six cats. He can be contacted at jeffjanko54@gmail.com

From the artist statement

The photograph titled "Agnes Street" is a panorama view of selected buildings taken on Agnes Street in Corpus Christi. In the sixties and seventies Agnes Street was a vibrant and robust commercial area where one could go to have automotive work done. You could find everything from paint and body shops, radiator repair to upholstery shops. The photograph "Agnes Street" tries to capture what is left of the best on Agnes Street.
