

This is Amanda Kowalski reading on behalf of the artist Jessica Mader

Hope

A small town, gem really, tucked at the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, in North Wyoming. The Big Horn Mountains, located in Sheridan, Wyoming, is one of the best kept secrets God gave this country. This is where I went to high school. I discovered this hill then and it became a place of peace for me. My own sanctuary. I could peer on the slow-moving town below as the lights begin to glow and watch the sun kiss the mountains in the horizon bidding a goodnight but promising for a new unwritten adventure tomorrow.

This was taken with a Sony 5LT A77V, 1/200, f/13