Listen to Dr. Luo as she summarize her thoughts and ideas on online teaching and shares a bit about herself and her professional journey.
Alice High School junior and senior students visited the SCLC yesterday for a tour and to participate in hands on learning activities. These students are part of the Career and Technology Education - Health Science program at their school, and all are interested in pursuing careers in healthcare. They were excited to learn about the opportunities available to them at TAMU-CC CONHS. A special thank you to Sheryl McMillian and Megan Kramr for assisting the SCLC staff with the tour.
Hi! I’m Kirstin [curse·tin]. I generally go by Katie, but I will happily respond to either. I’m excited to be back working at CONHS after a three-year hiatus. I’ve spent the last few years traveling, completing a degree in Photography, and enjoying time with my family, especially my niece and nephews. I recently became a dog mom to two feisty red heelers, and they have recently consumed my home life. I am so excited for this new chapter of working near home so I can be with my pups and continue spending time being creative, photographing all the things I love!
We are accepting donations of socks & full-sized bars of soap or cash donations to make neighbor to neighbor packages for homeless in our area. Please bring items to Bo Vega - IH 342F anytime before 10/23. We will assemble the packages in IH 323 soon, date and time to come.
Join us in IH 323 on October 31 at noon for the first Share-It Brown Bag Lunch Meeting. The topic will be OneDrive presented by Dr. Luis Espinoza. Dr. Espinoza will demonstrate how to use OneDrive to work with colleagues on research endeavors as well as for teaching courses here at TAMUCC. A PowerPoint will be available after the meeting.

Please email Dr. Luis Espinoza at Luis.Espinoza@tamucc.edu with your ideas for future Share-It Brown Bag presentations.
Support the TAMUCC Student Nursing Association with their Winter Merchandise Sale now through Oct. 22.
Students completing their Psychiatric and Mental Health clinical hours recently participated in the Virtual Dementia Simulation hosted by the Area Council on Aging. Students learned first hand what is like to navigate the world with sensory impairments common to dementia. In addition to developing empathy through simulation participation, students also received certificates for completing the Dementia Friends course. Four TAMU Pharmacy students and faculty were also able to join the simulation thanks to the collaboration between the CONHS and TAMU Rangel College of Pharmacy.
Our November 28th Brown Bag presentation topic will be on Maestro, the grant submission platform we use here at TAMUCC, presented by the Director of Research & Innovation at TAMUCC, Kimberly Hawkenson.

We are polling the faculty and staff to determine what questions you may have regarding Maestro so we can forward them to Kimberly to include in her presentation.

Please scan the QR code to take the survey to submit questions you may have on Maestro.

Please email Dr. Luis Espinoza at Luis.Espinoza@tamucc.edu with your ideas for future Share-It Brown Bag presentations.
