We would like to take a moment to recognize and thank those faculty and staff members who enabled the College to deliver an amazing White Coat Ceremony. Your commitment to the students is inspiring. Our special gratitude goes to Johanna, Megan, Bryana and Ushma.

TAMU-CC celebrates Healthcare Simulation Week with Lab Tour, Mixed Reality Headset Demo.

TAMUCC College of Nursing and Health Sciences Simulation and Clinical Learning Center Supervisor Ashley Dominguez assists BSN nursing student Carolina Cadena as she uses the new mixed reality goggles that were featured during the Healthcare Simulation Week 2022 Open House.
This week we highlighted the student scientists in the CONHS’ newest program, Clinical Laboratory Science. Jean Sparks, PhD, MT(ASCP) instructs her students in the art and science of creating and analyzing blood slides. Responsible for a variety of chemical, hematological, immunological, microbiological, serological and other laboratory procedures, these students can look forward to careers in hospitals, clinics, research and public health laboratories, and healthcare offices.
Assistant Clinical Professor Cathy Harrell welcomes the opportunity to broaden the impact of her classroom. New robot technology allows students that cannot be on campus to meaningfully engage in scenarios in the CONHS Simulation and Clinical Learning Center. Controlled using a cell phone, the remotely located student can easily manipulate the robot, and move it around the classroom and from room to room. Logged into the iPad on the robot, remote students actively observe, engage, and participate in group discussions and debriefs.

CONHS STUDENT HIGHLIGHTS

CONHS Simulation Lab

Students participated in their OB simulations this week. The pre brief included a round table discussion on maternal health in high-risk pregnancies. They concluded the simulation with a blood administration demonstration.

CONHS CPR Training

The CONHS CPR team completed the certification of all first semester BSN students this week. Big thanks to Sandy Stokes, Cathy Harrel, Pamela Ortiz, Ashley Dominguez, Denise Byrne, and Lisa Snell for teaching the eight BLS courses over the past month. We have 70+ more BLS trained individuals in our community now.
